

The following should arouse your suspicion

SUBJECT

Does this differ from the content? Is it nonsensical or marked as a reply to an email you did not write?

FROM

Are you familiar with this email address?
Is the spelling unusual?

DATE AND TIME

Was the email sent at an unusual time?

ATTACHMENT

Is the attachment unexpected, or does it not make sense in the context? Is the file format potentially dangerous?

TO

Are there more recipients, and if so, do you know them?
Is there anything unusual about this particular grouping? For example, do the names start with the same letters or are the people from different, unrelated circles?

CONTENT

Are there spelling mistakes or any unusual phrasing?
Are you being asked to do something to get something positive or to avoid something negative?

LINKS AND BUTTONS

Does the link lead to the given address?
By holding the cursor over the button or a link, the embedded URL is displayed.